Across
3. A small black square in the lower-right corner of a selected cell or cell range that you drag to copy the contents of the selected cells to adjacent cells (Two Words)
4. To eliminate empty space by matching the column width to the longest cell entry or row height to the tallest cell entry
5. Text associated with a data value (Two Words)
7. Graph that provides a visual representation of the workbook data
9. The bar located above the workbook window in which the contents of a cell is displayed (Two Words)
12. A feature that quickly inserts an Excel function that add a column or a row
13. A spreadsheet program you use to display, organize and analyze numerical data
15. A group of worksheet cells, adjacent or nonadjacent, also called a cell range
16. Selected portion of a worksheet to be printed (Two Words)
17. A predefined formula that performs calculations using specific values called arguments
18. Excel view in which cell formulas are displayed (Two Words)
19. The area where a row and column intersect
20. Used to identify the format of the data marker used for each series in a chart
22. Each workbook is made up of individual worksheets, three by default
23. A tool that enables you to copy the contents of the selected cells by dragging the fill handle

Down
1. A chart in the shape of a circle that shows data values as percentage of the whole (Two Words)
2. The area at the bottom of a worksheet that identifies the worksheet (Two Words)
6. Cell reference that absolutely always refers to a specific cell when copied (Two Words)
8. Specifies the numbers, text, or cell references used by the function to calculate a value
10. The selected cell in the worksheet; indicated with a dark border (Two Words)
11. A set of predefined rules that Excel follows to calculate a formula (Three Words)
14. To cut off, or hide, the part of an entry that does not fit in a cell
16. A mathematical expression that calculates a value; all Excel formulas begin with the equal sign (=) followed by an expression that describes the calculation to be done